EPPS'S COCOA

Breakfast.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up that strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shew by keeping ourself well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

AUCTION SALE OF
Valuable Farm Property, in the Township of Camden, in the County of Lennox and Addington.

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage (whereby the power therein contained to sell has not become operative) executed by Angus McDonald Farmer, of the said Township of Camden, and bearing date the 6th day of January, 1888, and registered in the registry office, for the County of Lennox and Addington, on the 25th day of February, 1888, in Book 12 of the said Township of Camden as No. 3775, which said mortgage has by two certain indentures of assignment of mortgage bearing date respectively the 15th day of April, 1889, and the 25th day of September, 1890, and registered in said Registry office in Book 15 and 18, respectively, on the 17th day of April, 1889, and 30th day of July, 1891, respectively, and being Nos. 5655 and 7143, respectively, been duly assigned to the vendor, and which said mortgage and said assignment will be produced at the time of sale, notice is therefore hereby given that on Friday, Oct. 9th, 1891,

at the hour of eleven o'clock in the forenoon, at the COURT HOUSE, in the Town of Napanee, said mortgage will be foreclosed by sale at Public Auction, to the highest bidder of the mortgaged premises, and which are as follows: All and singular that certain parcel or tract of land and premises, situate, lying and being in the Township of Camden, in the County of Lennox and Addington, and being composed of the west half of Lot No. 49 in the 5th concession of the said Township of Camden, containing by admeasurement 101 acres, be the same more or less.

The property is most favorably situated for farming and is within one mile of Moscow, in said Township of Camden, and is well fenced. The mortgagee reserves the right to bid for the same one bid. Ten per cent. of the purchase money is to be paid down on the day of sale to the Vendor's Solicitors. For the balance of the purchase

POLITICAL AND GENERAL.

OTTAWA, Sept. 4.—The introduction of a private bill at this period of the session is rather novel, but Mr. Kirkpatrick to day introduced a bill respecting the Rashbun Company, and moved the suspension of the rules to permit it to go through. Sir John Thompson remarked that as the ordinary notice was ten days, the suspension of the rule was not necessary, as they would not prorogue in that time. The bill was read the first time. The recommendation of the Public Accounts Committee for an order of the House for the production of all documents respecting the Toronto harbour contract was adopted.

Leave was granted the Public Accounts Committee to sit during the session of the House.

As the official apologist of Mr. Chapleau, secretary of state, of course the Montreal Gazette is bound to come to the defence of that gentleman's management of the public printing bureau. That paper has the hardihood to assert that Mr. Lister has not proved his charge that the printing bureau was "saturated with corruption." Mr. Lister's charge was that the whole state department, over which Mr. Chapleau presides, was saturated with corruption, and each of the two branches of the department which have been investigated have been found utterly rotten and corrupt. So far as the printing bureau is concerned it has been proved that the head of that branch, one of Mr. Chapleau's special pets, is the very personification of corruption. And it is difficult to believe that a bureau managed by such a man can be pure and honest. The same remark applies to the stationery branch. Corruption, blackmailing and booting have been proved against Mr. Chapleau's subordinates, notwithstanding the minister's efforts to exclude evidence and the mysterious disappearance of paper supply vouchers. But it is pleaded that the dear unsophisticated minister knew nothing about Mr. Senecal's booting. Mr. Chapleau, the hero of the North Shore railway sale and the Tanneries Land swap never dreamed that the head of the printing bureau could possibly go astray. The Gazette thinks it strange that some of the people blackmailed by Mr. Senecal did not complain to Mr. Chapleau. Is it quite sure that no such complaints were made? It will probably be shown before the investigation is over that complaints were made from influential quarters not only to Mr. Chapleau but to men higher in authority than he, and that such complaints were wholly ignored. The inquiry is not half through yet. It is evident that, following the example of Sir Hector Langevin, the secretary of state proposes to plead ignorance and incompetency, rather than admit knowledge of the corrupt acts of his subordinates. But the Chapleauites insist that whether corrupt or incompetent Sir Hector must go. Why not apply the same rule to Mr. Chapleau? Are we not to have "one law for all" in dealing with Mr. Abbott's colleagues? The Gazette carefully ignores the annual payments by Mr. Rolland contractor for paper supplies, to Mr. Dansereau, the alter ego of the secretary of state; and also Mr. Chapleau's admission that he made a demand upon Mr. Rolland for money for election purposes? How does that transaction square with Mr. Abbott's desire for purity in politics. The pretence that the country has sustained no loss through Senecal's booting is exceedingly thin. If there is any logic in the twaddle put forward by Mr. Chapleau's organs it is that merchandize can be purchased cheaper by dishonest officials than by honest ones; and that the way to get government supplies cheap is to allow the purchasing official to exact tribute from traders. Mr. Lister has charged, and he will no doubt prove, that tens of thousands of dollars worth of material was purchased for the printing bureau that is not required at all. The stuff being purchased by Mr. Senecal for the sake of the commission he was able to exact from those supplying it. And why has Mr. Senecal left the city? Not to shield himself, because his case was hopeless after his own testimony was given.

Senecal, so far as the money has been traced as yet. Senecal is supposed to have got altogether about $50,000, and there is a growing appearance of improbability that he spent the money on himself. It was shown also that $1,700 worth of type was imported by the company on which no duty was paid by the firm. The question of duty is very important in connection with the large quantity of type sold to the bureau by A. L. Patterson, representing Miller & Richard which was of course all imported. If this, too, as Mr. Lister is informed came in free of duty, it can no longer be contended that the type was supplied to the Government at a low price.

OTTAWA, Sept. 9.—Sir John Thompson announced to day, in answer to a question put by Mr. McMillan, of Huron, that the Government had made no relaxation in regard to the importation of cattle. Afterwards as a result of Sir Richard Cartwright's representation that it was important that the Government should declare its policy on the subject, Mr. Haggart said that they had decided not to allow American cattle to be imported into Canada and slaughtered and the product manufactured for export. This is a withdrawal from the position taken by the Government about a fortnight ago.

Dundee (Scotland) Advertiser.—When Sir John Macdonald proclaimed to the Canadians that he was born a Briton and meant to die a loyal subject of the Queen, it was assumed that he was giving utterance to the ruling passion of the leading Conservative statesman of the Dominion. The revelations of the last week or two go far to dissipate the assumption that political opinion is the potent factor in Canadian politics. In the light of these revelations one begins to suspect that it is not free trade, or unrestricted reciprocity, or imperialism that is shaping the destinies of British North America, but the long purse of the government contractor.

No better proof of the accuracy of the charges made by the Reform press, with respect to the corruption and rottenness prevalent in Dominion government circles, can be given than the fact that Mr. Abbott has been compelled to introduce special legislation to suppress official booting. If the charges made by the opposition were not well founded there would be no necessity for such legislation. But what restraints does the premier propose to place upon his own colleagues? Will he tether Messrs. Chapleau, Foster, Haggart, Dewdney, et al? Is Mr. Chapleau still to be allowed to exact tribute from contractors "for political purposes?"

Toronto News (Conservative).—The inquiry in the matter of the charges against Edward Cochrane has revealed a state of affairs more shocking perhaps than has been discovered in any of the other scandals that have been unearthed during the present session. The peddling of the positions on the Murray canal has not been brought home actually to Mr. Cochrane himself. But the evidence has shown conclusively that these positions were regularly farmed out by a committee of undesirable persons and that Mr. Cochrane not only was aware of the existence of that committee, but so far connived at its misdoings as to send to it all the men who came to him for positions. The fact that the positions were sold for so much hard cash and that that cash went to meet the expenses of the Conservative party has been clearly proved.

Cabinet Reorganization.

Several reports of a redistribution of high positions held by the French-Canadian members of the party are in circulation to-day. It seems to be settled that Mr. Laoste, now Speaker of the Senate, is to get the chief justiceship of the Court of Queen's Bench of Quebec, vacated by the death of Sir A. A. Dorion, and Senator de Boucherville will be the next Speaker of the Senate. Then the permanent retiring of Sir Hector Langevin and the heavy cloud hanging over Mr. Chapleau has led to much speculation as to how the Quebec end of the Cabinet is to be reorganized. The only scheme which the Quebec remnant less after his own testimony was given. He must have gone, therefore, to avoid giving testimony against others. And how many people are there simple enough to believe that Mr. Chapleau could not bring Mr. Senecal back and place him on the witness stand tomorrow if he wished?

William Meek, mechanical superintendent of the Whigs, gave evidence yesterday before the public accounts committee, Ottawa. He said he was agent for the Babcock printing press company, of New York. He spoke to Mr. Senecal about selling presses to the bureau. Mr. Senecal said the time was not come, that he would see him later on. Mr. Senecal did not see him again. He offered the presses for $2,300 each right through. These presses were the same class as the Potter presses and equally good. The bureau paid about $4,000 for the Potter presses. He offered the Gordon press for $275. He had a conversation with Mr. Bowell in connection with the presses at the bureau and told him the price they could be bought for. Mr. Bowell then referred him to Mr. Senecal, who told him, the time had not come. The price list of the Potter presses was about $4,000, with a discount of 40 to 50%. Within the past few weeks he knew of a Potter press, two sizes larger than the ones in the bureau, sold for $2,500. The presses in the bureau should have been purchased for about $2,100. The prices paid Mr. Lister said were about $4,000 for such presses. Witness said the price list of the Potter and Babcock presses were identical. He could have sold such presses as had been put in the bureau, considering the size of the order for $2,100 each.

Cross examination by Mr. Foster, Mr. Chapleau and Mr. Moncreiff, the witness adhered to his statements, making it apparent the Senecal and not the public got the advantage of the discounts on the presses.

OTTAWA, Sept. 8.—Since the vast proportions of Senecal's booting became known no testimony before the Public Accounts Committee has been so important as that given this morning by T. A. Scott, book-keeper for the Dominion Type Foundry. This establishment supplied about $48,500 worth of type to the booting bureau. It was heavily tapped by Senecal, who got from it $1,800 in cash, a mirror worth $60, and five or six cases of Pommer champagne at $20 a case. But Senecal was not satisfied. His commissions usually amounted to ten per cent, and these items made less than five, and once he sent a telegram that he was "very hungry." But levies were made upon the company for other purposes than to fill the always overstretched hand of Senecal. Mr. Lister asked the witness whether they had ever been called upon to subscribe to funds to help the Government in the elections. Mr. Foster and Mr. Chapleau objected to the question. Mr. Clarke Wallace sustained the objection, and the committee sustained him—on a strict party vote. But in spite of this the whole truth came out in a rather unexpected way. The order for the type was given in July, 1887. In December, 1887, after a large part of the enormous quantity of type ordered, had been manufactured and was ready for delivery, the company were astounded by a letter from Mr. Chapleau denying that any order had been given. About a month afterwards came a letter from Senecal refusing to receive the type. Then suddenly all the objections were withdrawn. The order was recognized and the type delivered and accepted. The reason was told very plainly and precisely by the witness. The company recovered its standing with the Government by paying blood money, not to Senecal, but to Francois Benoit, of Montreal, one of the Secretaries of the Conservative Association. The witness was thoroughly acquainted with the facts and had actually drawn the check himself. Shortly afterwards came a letter from the department, stating that Senecal's orders were to be honored.

The correspondence relating to this matter was kept in the company's safe until four weeks ago, when Mr. Crossby, manager of the company, took it away, telling the witness that he would take care of it. The investigation has now taken a far wider range than an investigation into the misdeeds of Senecal. The whole Conservative organization of Montreal is involved in the offence of extorting blood-money from the Dominion Type Foundry. Mr. Chapleau does not deny that he asked Mr. Rolland, another large vendor to the bureau, for a subscription to election funds. The question now arises, what became of the money given to Senecal? His usual commission was 10 per cent. In the case of the Dominion Type Foundry about 3 per cent. went to the Conservative Association in Montreal and about five per cent. to only scheme which the Quebec newspapers have ventured to suggest is that Lieutenant Governor Angers should resign and come up to Ottawa in Sir Hector's place. To this Sir Hector will consent provided he is whitewashed and appointed Lieutenant-Governor and his son-in-law, Judge Cimon, raised to the Court of Appeals. A prominent Quebec member said to-day that Sir Hector will neither be whitewashed nor appointed Lieutenant-Governor.

The Immigration Estimates.
 There was a lively little discussion on the immigration estimates this evening. Sir Richard Cartwright said he thought it was time the Government ceased paying out a quarter of a million dollars a year for an immigration which was either mythical or useless, inasmuch as the great majority of the immigrants leave us for the United States. In the past ten years the Government has spent nearly $4,000,000 on immigration. They have reported an immigration of 886,000 persons, but the population has increased by only 504,000. A vigorous and sagacious speech was made by Mr. Fraser, of Guelph. His view is that the best way to bring desirable immigrants here and keep them here is to govern the country with honesty, economy, and justice, and sweep away the system of taxation by which the few are enabled to grow rich at the expense of the many. The attack was well sustained by Messrs. Armstrong, Dawson, McMillan, and Watson. Mr. Watson gave a clear account of the reasons which have retarded the growth of the population in Manitoba and the Northwest, a subject on which he is thoroughly informed.

Langevin and Chapleau.
 It is the general opinion that the attempt to whitewash will not extend beyond a declaration that Sir Hector Langevin was not personally corrupt. In view of the evidence, in view of his own defence, and in view of his resignation, it would be ridiculous to try to restore his old reputation for competency, business habits and knowledge of the details of his department. There are striking points of resemblance between the case of Mr. Chapleau and the case of his late colleague, and wherever there is a difference it is not in Mr. Chapleau's favor. Senecal was a more impudent and persistent booter than anybody in the Public Works Department, and he took thousands of dollars against their hundreds. The Dominion Type Foundry and Rolland like Larkin, Connolly & Co. contributed liberally to election funds, and the chief difference is that Larkin, Connolly & Co. contributed willingly, while the $1,500 was squeezed out of the Dominion Type Foundry under the threat of repudiating their order and leaving them with enormous quantities of type on their hands. In short, while the officials of the Department of Public Works accepted bribes the officials of the bureau exacted blood money from their victims.

The Grand Trunk System.
 The Grand Trunk system differs from the human system in that the same troubles do not affect it and the same remedies are not needed. For all diseases of the human system there is no tonic so efficient as a weak system as good as Burdock Blood Bitters. A weak system can be built up by B.B.B.

IT CAN DO NO HARM to try Freeman's Worm Powders if your child is ailing, feverish or fretful.

Another Crossing Fatality.

GANANOGUE, Sept. 9.—Mr. R. J. Colton, a highly respected resident of this place for many years past died at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. His death resulted from an accident which he met with last Thursday on the Thousand Island Railway crossing near here. One of his feet was badly crushed, and owing to the fact that he was 83 years of age the injury severely shook the old man's system. It was found necessary to amputate the limb last evening and the operation proved fatal. In early years the deceased carried on a successful and extensive manufacturing business in Brockville, and was widely known in this part of Ontario.

A Nationalist Plan.

A proposal, which would obtain favor with even the opponents of Nationalism, contemplates the placing of a supply sufficient for each family of nature's great dyspepsia, eructive and blood purifier, B. B. B. in every home in the land. The benefits of such a boon to the people would be incalculable.

Fourteen Ways to Help a Doctor.

1. When it is necessary to send for medical service do so, if possible, before the physician goes out for his morning round of visits. Do not delay until he has come in dead, having possibly been in the very street in which you live.

2. If possible, send a note stating which member of the family is ill, and briefly detailing the symptoms, and giving the doctor an idea with regard to the case.

3. If unable, from any cause, to send a note at least try to send some intelligent messenger who can write out the call in full on the doctor's slate.

4. In case of poisoning be sure to send word, if known, what poison has been taken, as the doctor may then be able to bring with him an antidote in time to save life.

5. When the doctor comes let some one attend to him, and let the doctor know that you are all well.

The only son of Edward Dawson died this evening. He was a bright child and much sympathy is felt for the parents.

Inside of a week no less than five children have died in this section.

Benjamin Hopkins has also passed away. He lived alone and the neighbors found him dead on Sunday. He must have died on Saturday night.

Dr. K. N. Fenwick, Kingston, gave us an official visit last Friday. He was called out to see Mrs. H. E. Thornton, very sick. Rev. Fr. Cicolari, Erinsville, passed through Tamworth on a sick call to-day.

There is a great deal of sickness, and our doctors are both as busy as can be; in fact they are kept too busy to be healthy for them or any one else.

WEDDING BELLS AGAIN—HORSEY PARAGRAPHS—BUILDING.

Look out for more weddings in the near future.

Partridge has commenced and Mr. James Butler and his dog are in training for a big day's record.

We understand that several of our business men intend making exhibits at the Shannouville fair this year. This is wise and commendable.

There are some treacherous holes in several street crossings, notably at the intersection of Thomas and Green streets. They are dangerous for horses.

All visitors to town greatly admire the strength and wonderful intelligence of "Black Tom" that noble horse which, under the guidance of Mr. B. Shangraw, so expertly draws the lumber cars at the Big Mill. "Tom" is so intelligent that his name should be added to the voter's list.

Mr. T. Butler on going to the field for his horse one morning, found that it was seriously injured, the hoof being almost cut off, whether the result of an accident or the work of malicious person, it is difficult to decide. This is the second horse Mr. Butler has had injured this year, the first being cut by a wire fence.

Contractor J. R. Booth has a strong force of brick layers at work on Mr. James Mackie's new residence on St. George street. The edifice is 24x22 feet, two stories, with kitchen 18x16.

Dr. Yecmans and his fair bride have arrived home from Toronto. The happy couple have received the cordial congratulations of a host of friends since their arrival.

TWO SERIOUS ACCIDENTS.—ROAD BEING REPAIRED.

Frequent rains have a rather depressing effect on the spirits of our farmers who felt rather jubilant over the prospect of unusually heavy grain crop.

Harvesting is greatly retarded, and considerable damage done by the grain sprouting in the fields.

The prospect of having to grind a good deal of grown wheat, also causes our worthy miller to wear a doleful face.

Geo. Slater a young man met with a serious accident, which might easily have made him a cripple for life. He and his brother James were scoring a piece of building timber, when George, to give more force to the blow with his axe, swung one of his legs backwards, and brought his heel in contact with his brothers axe, receiving the full force of the blow. He very nearly got his heel cut off, but is doing as well as can be expected, under the care of Dr. Doig, who thinks that with proper care young Slater will recover.

George Sallans also gave his foot a bad cut with his axe, and was laid up a while with it, but it was not so serious, and he is already around again.

M. Paul Stein is getting an addition built to his house, consisting of a cellar, a kitchen and several bedrooms. Mr. Storing is doing the carpenter work.

Mr. Stein has now a gang of men engaged in repairing the Addington Road, north of Massanoga Lake; and is now camping near the bridge at the head of the Lake, but will move a couple of miles northward in a few days.

YARKEE, Sept. 9.—The potatoes through out this section are rotting. All who can are getting them out. One-third of the crop will be lost.

New hands will be placed at work in the wheel factory here.

The firm of Benjamin Bros. & West are receiving large orders. Some firms work as high as two thousand sets of wheels. The hickory spoke wheels, in finish and wear, are pronounced the best in Canada.

Rathbun is shipping immense quantities of coal to all stations on the line of the B. Q. R.R. for winter use.

A new bakery is being erected here by Cambridge Bros.

Frequent shipments of hogs and cattle are being made by Mr. Kenny.

Farmers are reluctant to sell their grain at present prices offered. They are now beginning to see who pays the duty, and many of them are found saying: "I have given my last vote for protection."

Miss L. Conway, Rochester, N.Y., is a guest at J. H. West's.

Miss Bertha Charlton is at Mr. C. J. Phillips'.

Charles Phillips and wife are visiting at Gananoque.

The defeat of the Princess street baseball club on Monday by the Asylum team surprised us here.

Gull Creek.

SICK LIST—VISITORS—FROST.

We do have lots of rain, rather too much to please many, but I suppose that people around here are like they are elsewhere somewhat hard to please and what seems to please some will not please others and I do not know the man who would be pleased to have much rain, and his grain lying in the field exposed to the continual rain. Of a truth it is very trying, yet in the promises we sh.uld trust and be prostrate in the dust.

There have been many on the sick list in this locality, but at present they seem to be on the right side of recovery. The case that appeared to be the most serious was that of Murray Bell. At present we are happy in saying that he is gaining as fast as can be expected.

Some of our young folks are intending to go to Toronto exhibition, may they have a pleasant trip a merry time and a happy return.

Mrs. Cole from Perry road is paying a visit to her daughter Mrs. A. H. Jones, near the creek.

There are indications of frost at night especially in the low land, its effects is evidently to be seen. Sir Jack is not far away because we can smell his breath.

Camden East.

Sept 8th.—We have a fine bright morning this morning for the first time in about a week. It has been foggy or rainy for a change and cold enough for frost.

Hop-picking is in full blast in the yards about here. N. Hinch began last Wednesday and W. J. Dalmage last Monday. The yield is fair but wind destroyed a great many branches.

A week ago Saturday the baseball team of Catarqui with some Kingston players came out here and were beaten by the useless nine with a score of 17 to 7. We expect to get a chance at Newburg shortly and if we do not it will not be our fault.

Birt Bicknell is home for holidays from Richland N. Y. where he was working on the R. W. and O. Ry.

Miss C. Elliot is visiting at G. E. Hinch's.

J. W. Kelly was home from Picton to spend Sunday.

Rev. Arch. Elliot, our former Pastor, arrived in town last night so as to be here to participate in the coming festivities on Thursday the 10th. I think if it is fine and the signs do not fail that Thursday will be a red letter day in Camden East. Remember everybody is cordially invited to visit this town that day and enjoy himself and help others to do the same. A grand baseball match is one of the attractions.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellow-men. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. Novak, 250 Powers' Block, Rochester, N. Y.

IT IS SWIFTER THAN THE SUNLIGHT.

An Electric Current Girdles the Globe in Three Seconds.

Philadelphia scientists are preparing to find out how fast an electric current travels. An experiment will be made, probably from the Franklin Institute, by connections over the Atlantic cable to Liverpool and return.

A recent test appeared to show that an electric current is a slow coach as compared to light, being only able get over to Europe and back in something like a second, or at the rate of only some 400,000 miles a minute, while light ambles along at a million-mile-a-minute gait. The Philadelphia scientists who are proposing to make further investigation are not satisfied to give up the record to sunlight, and hope to prove that the electrical current, if not handicapped, is the swifter element.

The most recent experiment was tried at McGill College, Montreal. The current was transmitted in Montreal, was transferred to the cable at the Newfoundland cable station by means of Thompson's mirror galvanometer, sent across to the station at Liverpool, and returned to Montreal by the same method. The distance traversed, partly by overhead wire and partly by cable, was 8,000 miles. From the time the current left the key in Montreal until it returned to the receiver in the same office just one second and one-twentieth of a second had elapsed; but the conditions were not as good as they might have been, hence the further experiment to be made here.

The rapidity with which the current travels over short wires with no delay indicated unlimited possibilities in the direction of practical tests. Prof. Marks of the Edison Electric Light company is authority for the assertion that if the globe was encircled with a continuous cable a current would travel the entire distance in a trifle over three seconds. At this rate a current would travel to the sun, covering the distance of 96,000,000 miles, in three and a half minutes.

"In this age of science," said one of the gentlemen who will participate in the experiments, "people have an idea that we know so much now there is nothing more to be discovered. Why, we are yet in our infancy as far as electricity goes. New discoveries will yet be made, and we will live to see them put into practical use, which will revolutionize the entire world. The experiment which we are about to make in telegraphy is only a feeler, which will lead to other and more startling experiments. The establishment of telephone communication between the hemispheres is already being seriously discussed."

him an antidote in time to save life.

5. When the doctor comes let some one person who is familiar with the case give him the details with regard to it; too many informants create confusion.

6. Do not discuss the case before the patient.

7. Have a pencil and slip of paper and write down at once the instructions received.

8. Try to be exactly accurate in statements.

9. Do not have children or dogs in the sick room during the doctor's visit, as the children and dogs will divert his attention.

10. Carry out faithfully and exactly the orders given by the medical man.

11. "Trust me not at all or all in all," should be the doctor's motto.

12. When consulting a medical man in his own house, do so during his office hours. Do not go just at the time he takes his meals.

13. Finish the professional interview with him in his consulting room, and do not continue detailing symptoms in the hall when being shown out.

14. Bear in mind the comfort of the doctor, and when the conditions suggest do not forget to give him a cup of cold water, or of hot coffee, or a plate of soup, as the case may be.

You will give him renewed inspiration for his work.—Good Housekeeping.

Skepticism.

Skepticism is simply not believing. It is denial, negation, darkness. There is only one cure for darkness, and that is coming to the light. If you will persist in putting your eyes out, or in barring God's daylight out, there is no help for you; you must die in the dark. Sin has made your soul sick, and if you will not even try Christ's medicine, then the bloodpoisoning of infidelity will run its fatal course. If you will produce a better rule of life than my Bible (perhaps your mother's Bible also), if you will find a holier pattern of living than Jesus Christ, and a surer Savior than He is, I will agree to foreswear my religion for yours. But what is your "I do not believe" in comparison with my positive "I know whom I have believed?" What is your denial in comparison with my personal experience of Christ? Skepticism never won a victory, never slew a sin, never healed a heartache, never produced a ray of sunshine, never saved an immortal soul. It is foredoomed defeat. Don't risk your eternity on that Spider's web.—T. L. Gayler.

Baby Was Sick.

My baby was very sick with diarrhea and after everything else had failed I tried Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry: the first dose gave relief, and a perfect cure soon resulted.—Mrs. J. H. Clark, Bloomfield, Ont.

Health, Happiness and Prosperity.

All these depend on pure blood, for without it health is impossible, and without happiness prosperity is a mockery. No means of obtaining pure blood and removing bad blood equals the use of B.B.B., the best blood purifier known.

"German Syrup"

Here is something from Mr. Frank A. Hale, proprietor of the De Witt House, Lewiston, and the Tontine Hotel, Brunswick, Me. Hotel men meet the world as it comes and goes, and are not slow in sizing people and things up for what they are worth. He says that he has lost a father and several brothers and sisters from Pulmonary Consumption, and is himself frequently troubled with colds, and he often coughs enough to make him sick at his stomach. Whenever he has taken a cold of this kind he uses Boschee's German Syrup, and it cures him every time. Here is a man who knows the full danger of lung troubles, and would therefore be most particular as to the medicine he used. What is his opinion? Listen! "I use nothing but Boschee's German Syrup, and have advised, I presume, more than a hundred different persons to take it. They agree with me that it is the best cough syrup in the market."

NAPANEE, FRIDAY, SEPT. 11, 1891.

ONE of the stock arguments used by the N.P. men, was that its operation would build up the country. The census just taken, made as favorable as possible by Tory workers, shows that Canada has not been able to hold even her natural increase of population. The Tory papers therefore want the census returns ignored as much as possible, and would like the matter forgotten as soon as possible.

SIR Richard Cartwright's estimate of what our population should be is given in the following figures:—

Population in 1881	4,325,000
Natural increase at 2½ per cent. per annum	1,100,000
Immigrants arrived per Government returns	865,000
Natural increase of immigrants	110,000
Population as it should have stood in 1891	6,400,000
As it actually is	4,880,000
Missing	1,520,000

As some Tories contend however that the estimate of 2½ per cent. per annum is too great for natural increase, suppose we drop it out and see how the figures stand:

Population in 1881	4,325,000
Immigrants as per Government returns	865,000
	5,190,000

Yet as our population is but 4,830,000 where can the people have gone to? Are we to assume that people die faster in Canada than elsewhere? Ought not Canada to show as good a natural increase as England or Scotland? If we say yes, and add 550,000 to 5,190,000, Canada should have to-day a population of 5,740,000 instead of 4,830,000. The N.P. is blamed very largely for the exodus which has taken place, and rightly. The N.P. and the corruption of the past twelve years are rocks large enough to wreck better countries than the Dominion of Canada. Some Tory papers say that only the disgruntled Grits have left country, and we are well rid of them. But that is as untrue as most Tory statements are when made to cover up the bungling of the party. It is well known around here that the "disgruntled" people who have "had to go" have been largely Tories, who blindly voted for the continuance of a policy which was driving them into exile before leaving.

In looking over the history of our country for the past few months the question naturally arises—Is there not some remedy for this evil? Must we put up with this sort of thing four or five years longer because these villains stick together and rob by brute force? How much longer will this gang of corruptionists continue to soil the pages of our history and bring our country into disgrace? It should not be forgotten that we are a borrowing country, and if we condone the offences of Langevin, Chapleau, and the whole Tory party in general our credit is gone, and we will stand before the nations of the world a rofligate, bankrupt, spendthrift colony, disowned and discredited by that mother that gave us birth. This is no wild conjecture. Already the English press is cautioning the British capitalists against entrusting their money to us to be spent in corrupting the electorate. To return to our first question is there no immediate remedy, no way of getting out of the

CHAPTER I.

VERMILION BY THE ACRE.

YOUNG woman, you are working too hard."

"Yes. While my wings are growing."

He turned and looked out upon the brick walls. "She is evidently neither worm nor butterfly—and the end will be either an early grave or fame! Well, in our work fame means fortune. It is well—let her alone."

With this admonition to himself the "Tiger," as the toilers called their employer, thrust his hands behind him, in thoughtful mood, and strode out of the workroom into the office across the hall.

The name to which the "Tiger" laid claim by Christian right and usage was Leon Spanero; and, as its construction indicated, he was a Spaniard. What was worthy of the remark, which it usually called forth, was that his hair was light, his beard luminous, and his person round and portly.

His establishment was one with which the world was, and still is, but little acquainted—a commercial art school or factory—which ever name you fancy. And at the time the above unimportant words were uttered a young woman, or girl, was making her brush nimble with a morning dose of "turps."

The young woman addressed did not enjoy the occasional conversations with the Spaniard, merely because he was in no wise anxious for the welfare of other "pupils." She did not properly appreciate the distinction possible. The future life of the girl school. In each corner of the room and at the middle of each side were easels. On each corner easel was a weatherbeaten painting, while at varying distances around were smaller easels grouped, at which sat or stood the "artists"—what merry lies our courtesy delights in! On the corner easel was a "Coliseum by Moonlight," with a brick-red antiquity visible in the foreground; and for so many "Raphaels" the distinguished genius drew on the red-headed Spanish tiger for so many American dollars every Saturday afternoon.

The other two rooms that we mentioned as a part of the outfit, were the private jungle of Spanero, which no man or woman had ever entered so far as we now know, and the little four-by-six den, where Pinnie was supposed to sleep to the great detriment of the coal, and wood and rats.

One morning, just before our story opens, the tiger had knocked Pinnie around to his satisfaction, and as a sort of punctuation mark in his daily activities, kicked over the easel of one of the bread-winners in color. Having witnessed the expected look of grief and despair on the face of the victim, he returned to his office. There the master found a young woman awaiting him—one who had evidently seen some twenty summers and but few winters. She had entered quietly and seated herself without request.

Spanero possessed what we may term "strength in his eyes," and the penetration of his glance was an unaffected element of his personal powers. He looked at the young woman, and beyond the remarkable beauty he saw character distinctly written, and however dangerous it may prove to domination, the masterful always seeks the companionship of strength.

Pulling his beard with some show of impatience, the Tiger nodded to the girl, and murmured with the distant tones of respect

Coal - Coal

I told you last year that I had come to stay, so here I am again, and it remains with the people to say how long I shall remain in the Coal Trade.

I take this opportunity to thank my patrons of last year for the liberal support they gave me, also, thank those who gave their sympathy. If those who supported me continue to do so, and those who were in sympathy give me their support this season I will continue to stay, but withdraw your support and I am out, and Coal must go back to $6 per ton.

If the other dealers say that I did not put down the price of Coal, why is it that Coal in Toronto the winter of 1890 was $5.50 and in Napanee $6? While in 1891 it was $6 in Toronto and $5.50 in Napanee.

My Coal this year is from the Wilkesbarre District, and is of a superior quality, pronounced by those who know, to be as good Authentic Coal as there is in Pennsylvania.
Last year I was handicapped from the fact that I had only one chance to get in the coal market, while this year I had the chance of six firms to select from, and, therefore, have a better quality of coal than I had last year, and am prepared to sell as cheap as any other dealer in town.

Please call and inspect my coal before placing your order, and consult your own interests.

remedy, the way of getting out of the filth and stench of the Ottawa Cabinet? Yes, we have a Governor-General around whom we pay $50,000 a year to stand at the helm of our country and overlook the course taken by the premier, and if he sees that our ship of state is being driven on the rocks it is his duty to dismiss him and engage another pilot. This is what we pay him for and it is for this that he is sent out to this country. What has our Governor-General done? He has gone a-fishing. He was on hand for the puppet show at the opening of the House and will probably be on hand in a few weeks again to exhibit his gold lace and allow his humble subjects to bow to him and then he will retire again to Rideau Hall and piously reflect upon the wisdom of his governing ability, while our poor country is being bled to death by the vultures whom he is pleased to call his Ministers. If the necessity for a Governor-General has ever existed at all since confederation it exists to-day. If a Governor-General ever had an opportunity of showing that he can use his position for the good of the country he is supposed to govern Lord Stanley has that opportunity to-day. But what has he done?
Absolutely nothing! He evidently came to this country for an outing,
to catch our fish, pocket our money,
then go back to England and relate in some after dinner speech his pleasant experience in the colony. It is high time we put an end to this tom-foolery and give Mr. Stanley to understand that if he is here for anything it is to keep an eye upon his ministers and when he finds that they are corrupt beyond redemption it his business to bounce them and call upon some honest politician to form a government.

The charges preferred against Mr. Cochrane, M. P. of East Northumberland, by Mr. Cameron of Huron have been fully established. It has been shown that petty government appointments were sold for cash, the money being used to pay off debts incurred by the leading Tories of East Northumberland—for which debts Mr.
Cochrane was partly responsible—and that he knew of the use made of the money and how it was obtained. The system of selling government appointments to raise political funds is believed to have prevailed pretty extensively throughout the Dominion during recent years, the positions sold ranging from senatorships to bridge keeperships. One of the ministerial organs admits that the evidence in the Cochrane case shows a deplorable condition of affairs.
"It was," says the evening organ of the government, "a straight case of selling government appointments in order to raise money to keep the government in power.
No worse or more dangerous sort of corruption has come to light in the investigations of the present parliamentary session.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SY-RUP. For children teething its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no truer remedy for all the ailments of teething, such as sore throat, swollen glands, diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels,
cures Wind Colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SY-RUP for children teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all drugists throughout the world. Price, 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for Mrs. WINSLOW'S undoubtedly not properly appreciate the distinction, possibly. The future life of the girl was developed from germs of which this was one.

Very few persons acquainted with art matters in this country from 1840 to 1845 but were familiar with the title—"My Lady of Lauraine." This rare genius and beautiful woman was in the commercial "Art School" of Leon Spanero in 1837-8 seeking to rise to the plane of a higher life.

Thus, in a picture factory, where genius was "done in oil" by the dozen, on contract, and by routine colorings, a young girl was earning the wherewith to grow poor and wax pale, as a stepping stone to fame.

Not that what the blue bloods of Boston called the "ideal" was cultivated. No, the compensation received was weary hands, weary hearts and a right to be buried in the potter's field. Then, of course, there was so much a yard for spreading transfiguring shadows over the canvas, in which each one added single colors, regardless of the whole.
Miss Helen Lamont was only one of many factors in the production of each work, and genius rarely germinates under such circumstances.

"Pinnie, why do you not go to breakfast?"
"Why, did you think I hadn't been to breakfast, Miss Lamont?" replied a singularly pale and slender youth whom she had addressed.

"I had not seen you leave the room."
"I do not dare to go after the Tiger is up."

The person addressed by Miss Lamont was a young man who slept at the school, builded fines, blacked the Tiger's boots and did various lines of work for the owner of the boots.
The boy was not a giant. The twenty years of life thus far permitted him by an unhappy fate, had clothed a thin skeleton with almost viewless flesh—and his beardless face was as transparent wax, from which shone the unspeakable light of two lustrous eyes. Pinnie was no beauty, but still few men were able to look at him the first time without casting the second glance. The second glance generally ended with a sigh.

Did you ever look into one of those art shops of the ante-chrome period? No! Well, let us look around this den, made brilliant with startling colors, against which all real artists launched their curses. It was a day when every happy home expressed some of its happiness by the purchase of "oils," more or less related to the "great masters"— more or less hideous, and more or less everything else. They ornamented the best room, and frequently would almost knock a person down who saw them for the first time—unless informed that they were from the brush of the celebrated "Ludwico," or "Von Schwableister," or some other famous, unspeakable, and only!

In this interesting period, which began with the century and closed with the introduction of the chrono of the last twenty-five years, art passed through one of its cooling epochs! That is to say, the mad fever to paint the thunder and tint a dream, cooled down to the icy reality of scrubwork—at twelve shillings a dozen! The substitution of the chrono for piece work annihilated the "art schools" of the Spanero type. Forty years ago every inland town had its art sales.
A traveling genius, with a wonderfully composite Italian brogue, and an "astounding mustachio, came into town with a name which leaned like the Tower of Pisa—from its peculiarity of construction. He hung a hundred pictures on the wall in some vacant storeroom, and arranged a brilliant reflector to throw light on the auction easel. A crowd gathered and the tide rose. The sale got decidedly interesting. Every man and woman was ready to back up his or her "taste" with the wild-cat currency of the day—it might be worthless on the morrow, anyway.

A hundred dollars or five dollars—it was all the same to Ludwico. As the original cost was but fifty cents, plus a dollar frame, those tears of Ludwico over the sacrifice of his magnificent collection 'twixt Italy possessed more true art than most of his pictures.

It was where these wonderful oils were produced that we find our "Lady of Lauraine," germinating in the character of Miss Helen Lamont, the heroine of many a triumph—and of this story. We enter one of the schools where inspiration is under contract by the acre. It consists of three or four rooms on the fourth floor of an old-fashioned brick and stone structure in the City of Boston. In one of these rooms was the public office of the proprietor or master. Its public character was not very well developed, as all these rooms were in an interior building, that is to say, in the court or open space in the centre of a square, which was built up on the street on the four sides. At the upper end of a tortuous hallway, and across from the master's office, was the workroom. It may have been twenty by forty feet in extent.

But at the time we open the story not more than a dozen "artists" were members of the patience, the Tiger nodded to the girl, and suggested with the slightest tinge of respect

in his manner:

"There may be something I can do for you, young woman?"

"Yes, sir; that is, if you are the head of this school."

"School! This is not a school, miss! It's a workshop—a machine for grinding—a foundry. You want to paint, I suppose."

"Yes, sir; I wish to earn enough to—"

"All right. You need not explain. What can you do?"

"Oh, I can sketch in perspective and I have some samples of—"

"No," quickly responded the master, with a motion of the hand as if to ward off a calamity; "show them to Pinnie—he has an eye for a wagon painter."

Helen Lamont might have asked who Pinnie was, but she did not. She said nothing.

"Young woman," Spanero said, after a pause, "we have no use for perspective here.
As I said, this is not a school of art—it is a factory. Can you blend? Can you mix, grind? Can you tell rose red from sea green —sky blue from lavender? And how much do you want?"

"I do not know," the girl answered promptly. "Enough to buy bread and provide a place in which to eat it."

"How much can you do?"

"Very little at first, I should think."

"So should I," said the Tiger with a grin—though it must be confessed that tigers seldom grin.

"My uncle taught me—"

"Never mind the uncle, miss."

He led her into the workroom, amid the strange faces there fighting for life, on not one of which could she see the bloom of hope or happiness. He gave her a place and told her to prepare the ground for a magnificent booth then on the copy easel. "And put on the sky and then bring it to me. Don't touch any other part of it—that girl over there with the game foot will take it next."

In twenty minutes she took it into the office—absolutely the worst work she had

"PINNIE, WHY DO YOU COME AND STAND BY MY WORK."

ever executed. But Helen was a girl of rare intelligence. She understood instantly that time, and not genius, was in demand there; and she was equal to the demand.

"All right, girl; all right," said the Tiger, and he mopped the six wrinkles of 45 creeping over his face. "You will soon be able to earn $5 a week."

The Spaniard would have lied just as gracefully if her countenance had not lightened up with pleasure.

So she entered upon her work—and worked very hard. Nor did she, after this, endeavor to slight her work to gain a moment's time.

Oh, glorious idealist, who dreams in blending shadows, and hides the smile of hope in the thin gauze of the mountain mist you are creating—who seeks the valley for the rest
there is in humility, and climbs the mountain in search of the "higher life!" Rare dreams for the garret! But dreams of the emerald hue will not ripen in the frosty night of such a painful reality as surrounded Helen Lamont!
Was there one about her who dreamed of better things? Not one but had enough to do to earn his bread—and eat it! Yes, there was one—one poor, thin, pale boy,
whose body had failed to provide a proper envelope for his soul, and if "Pinnie" ever dreamed of a higher life, it was as a germ pressed the too heavy soil above it.

But Pinnie did have aspirations.

At times, when Helen Lamont went to her quiet chamber which overlooked the bay, the image of a face, which bent over all the work and then rested upon her own, came before her like the theme of a picture. And so one day she said, to herself, that she would know more of the youth whose life seemed to live behind a veil—obscuring, possibly, the purpose of his existence.

why do you come and stand by my work?"
"Because," said the boy, "you can teach."
"Teach, child? What do you mean?" said the girl, surprised.
"Oh," said he, turning his large eyes, and face which rarely smiled, full upon her, "you understand it—no one else does here save the master, and he never works now."
"And if I do?" she asked.
"Then, Miss Lamont, I want to catch the idea which you have, but of which I only dream."
"Pinnie, where are your parents?" she asked, suddenly changing the subject.
"I have none."
"None?"
"None, Miss Lamont. My father and mother died on the ocean. I do not even know what country I came from. I was adopted. And he hung his head; but his voice was clear.
"My friend, tell me your story—no, not now; the master will be here soon. Come to my home with me this evening—we will say much to each other, but not here." It might have been a bold thing to say to some, but not to Pinnie. It required no apology.
"I cannot. I have never been anywhere."
She did not know the awful truth to which she was listening and replied: "You can go with me, Pinnie. There, do not stay longer now."
That evening Miss Helen went into the office before leaving the building.
"Well, what do you want?" But it was not said as Spanero would have spoken to any of the other unfortunates.
"I have some work at my room which I wish Pinnie to bring here—this evening."
"Do you mean that you want him to go with you?" said the man with a scowl.
"Yes."
"Well, he can't go."
"Then I shall not be here in the morning," she replied. Miss Lamont had her own reasons for bearing the lion—or the tiger—wherever she found him in her way, and it was not the first attack.
The eyes of Spanero turned upon her with an unwonted fire in them—at least to her experience. For a moment he did not say a word. It is possible that he enjoyed the spirit in this beautiful inspiration that had come into his den.
"Miss Lamont, are you supposed to run this establishment?"
"No, sir."
"Then permit me to suggest that you hire some street youth to do your errands," said Spanero, turning to his ledger.
"I am preparing work which he alone can teach. He must go or no one." And the eyes, light hair, ruddy cheeks and the picture of health.

"Well, Conrad," she said, without any perceptible anxiety, "you will have to find the other party to the contract first."
"I haven't consulted the other party yet, but I have seen her."
"Is that all?" said the mother.
"No, it is even worse than that—I do not know her name, nor whether she is married or single."
"In that case I shall not lose you for some time yet."
"I do not know," continued the young man. "I saw the young lady this evening, and she said to me, 'Conrad, you ought to have me, or someone like me, for a wife.'"
Mrs. North held up both her hands to express her horror. "The bold thing!"
"She did not say it, mother, she only looked it; and I immediately rebuked the sentiment by wishing I could obey her—and I presume I looked it too!"
The mother smiled.
"You see, mother," said Conrad, taking a chair and coming close to her, "the young lady was waiting at the ferry; and in some unreasonable manner, when I looked at her I felt that I ought to have a wife!"

"I HAVE YOU NOW."
"Perhaps the impression was correct, my son, but I do not like to have you cast your life lines at the call of a stranger."
"Now, mother, that was just the feeling that came to me—that I was a stranger to one-half the world."
The mother looked at him with an unusual tenderness—of course the sacrifice had to come some time. "Conrad, you are on the threshold of love."
"Yes, I believe I am. I am old enough, fortune is ours—and a fair name. I am lonely."
"With your mother?" said Mrs. North, with downcast eyes.
"Yes, even with our queen." And the son arose and pressed the face of his mother to

When she left the room the tiger gathered himself together, jumped to the floor, walked with energy and muttered various oaths in Spanish and French. Evidently one language would not answer the demand of the occasion.

When he finally settled into his chair again he congealed all his dissatisfaction into the words: "Well, the d-d puppy can't say anything when he don't know anything!"

CHAPTER II.
HE TELLS HIS MOTHER ABOUT IT.

HE heroes and heroines, little and big, of every story, must have something to do, and so we have taken a few real brokers, and merchants and lawyers, and industrious laborers, and hidden their identity under a profession with which our only acquaintance comes with the memories of the past here recorded.

We cannot clothe all our characters with the mantle of the artist. One of them, at least, was a stock broker—on the exchange of Boston. The stocks, however, in which the elder Van der Nort dealt were neither New York Central nor Michigan Central. Nor were they the stiff, crackling parchments in red and old gold, with coupon attachments—but rather the prospective value of the next shipload of Malacca goods and Cinghalese ware. In other words, the Elder Van der Nort was in the East India trade. His "water stock" yielded dividends on rich shawls and laces, and even upon spices.

The Elder Van der Nort was dead, and in 1887 his graceful widow was a lady of 50 years, with silvery hair, and with sprightly step. Her face bore lines upon it, but her form was still lithe, graceful and petite.

The down town office was presided over by a son. And the son was not an artist nor a dreamer. He was thoroughly real. And yet, he was a patron of every element which would advance the higher interests of Boston—one of those men who were laying the foundations broadly for that grand development of culture which has made Boston the Athens of America. However, in buying and selling he handled the "real stuff." This is not a mean insinuation upon modern stocks—it is merely a statement that he neither dealt in "margins"—nor wrote verse!

Being young, handsome and rich, and of a family with a perpendicular lineage (geometrical term for high up, he patronized art and in turn was patronized by it. He and several like him sought out the painter, the book-maker, the rhymist and the songstress—and made them friends. And his beautiful mother, whose amiable ways were so winning to the stranger within their gates, followed up his whims in this respect with a faithfulness and love which make motherhood so holy a bond.

This model of young masculine excellence was not free from his tricks during boyhood. He was sent to a college not a thousand miles from Boston when 16 years of age—ten years before our story opens. He went alone, introduced himself to a reverend seignior preceptor and registered his name as Conrad—not Van der Nort—but plain North. Nor did his comrades know him by any other name.

One day this sprightly chap brought four other chaps home with him for a visit! Only four! And every one of the four, with great disrespect for the Dutch dialect and the pride of ancestry, called the heir presumptive plain "North."

And, to tell the truth, the old gentleman rather liked the boy's ways—not in bringing a regiment of boys home with him to turn the house into a menagerie, but in his making his name plain United States "North." The widow and son, after the death of the father, continued to live in the old gabled brickyard, or ancestral house, which over looked the then "American Bay"—a name which was rapidly disappearing.

"Mother," said the son one day, as he entered the sitting room, "I have made up my mind to marry."

The mother looked at him a moment—he was a splendid fellow to look at, of medium height, stoutly built, light complexion, blue his lips. Nor was he satisfied until he had kissed her over and over again. And the mother smoothed the light hair from his brow. The time was soon coming—she knew it was near.

"I am satisfied," she gently said; "but I do not like to have my son dwell in thought upon a young woman whom he does not even know."

"Bless you, mother," replied Conrad, with a ringing laugh which echoed clear to the garret, "I am not in love with this young lady—it was only a dream which her face put into my mind; it was only the story of a face. No, I am not in love so easily as that!"

There was no smile on the mother's face, but there was a very broad one in her heart. She remembered a story of the past when she went star-gazing with a certain young Vander Nort—when Boston was quite a successful village.

"Well, my son," she said, "we will have to face the danger bravely, and face our neighbor's daughters, too. There is Mrs. Scribner—she is well contented and—"

"She's too young—not 35 yet," said the dutiful son. His ancestors had always married in the line of parental direction and filial duty, but the vein of old Dutch humor would defy parental affection, and age as well.

"There's the lovely Widow Weber—" "Oh, mother, spare the widows."

"Look out, sir," she said, cutting him short.

"Mother," said the son, going over to the window and plucking the leaves from one of her choicest plants, "I suppose every one has an ideal—my ideal has character."

"As for instance—" "I do not know. You smile!"

"Yes, Conrad; I smile because you have seen a face—and that will be your standard of character until the moon changes." And the mother laughed one of her happy little laughs—she loved her boy so.

"I suppose so—I will wait on the moon." "Or on some gardener's daughter." And the little lady threw her arms around him and looked him in the face proudly.

"I think she is a schoolmarm, mother. Good night; you will be asleep when I return."

He took himself away, and a half hour later passed the very spot where he had seen the face over which he had evidently been day-dreaming. Strange mortals we—all of us.

And mother? Well, she sought her bed at an early hour, said her prayer and slept. "It was a whim; the first of many, doubtless." And when upon the trelis, clothed in green, came the birds in blue and gold with morning song, and the sun shot its yellow beauty through the leaves, the mother rose, wondering why she had slept so well!

A Big Storage Battery Plant.

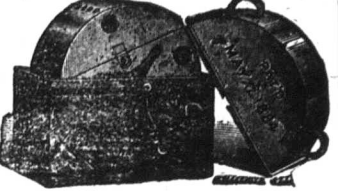

One of the largest orders for storage batteries for an isolated plant that has ever been placed is one recently given for a lighting plant in the residence of James J. Hill, of St. Paul, Minn. The installation will comprise 600 cells in sixty series of ten each, which will give storage capacity for running 650 sixteen candle-power incandescent lamps for ten hours. The batteries alone for this plant will fill several freight-cars.

SELF APPLICATION OF ELECTRICITY

FOR MEDICAL PURPOSES, BY THE DORENSEND ELECTRIC BELT AND ATTACHMENTS.

THE WORLD'S BEST

All diseases curable by electricity can be treated at home by the Dorenwend appliances. The Dorenwend is the only legitimate Electricity Belt made which fulfills the requirements of electro-medical science. It is a complete Body Battery, it has an independent battery, which generates a mild continuous current of electricity (without shocks) and can be regulated to suit the strongest man, or the weakest child. It is a Current of Quantity, not merely a sensation current and the quantity current is the greater: curative. It is a successful treatment for Indigestion, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Liver and Kidney Troubles, Weak Back, Spinal Discharge, Heart Trouble, Nervous Debility, Paralysis, Vertigo, Female Complaints, Impotence, Sexual Decline, and all Diseases of the Nervous and Muscular systems.

Remember that the Dorenwend Belt is the latest invention in this line. It was invented by a competent electrician and ranks as the best in the world. We defy any one to bring proof to the contrary.

Do not class this Belt with the humbug combinations of leather and metal with which the country is being flooded. If you wish to experience with cheap useless articles buy them, but, if you want to procure a genuine electric belt and one that will be of benefit get a Dorenwend Belt. Send in name and address for Illustrated Book on Home Electro-medical treatment, and receive this paper. The Dorenwend Electric Belt and Attachment C., C. H. TOO REALISTIC PLAY.

A Child Nearly Drowned in Mimic Drama Yesterday.

TORONTO, Sept. 8.—Little Gerty, the two-year-old daughter of Joseph W. Cornes, 129 Strachan-avenue, was very nearly drowned in a peculiar manner yesterday afternoon.

It appears that three other children, two boys and a girl, whose ages were about nine years respectively, took Gerty down to the lake at the foot of Strachan-avenue, and after taking her clothing off, placed her in the water, keeping her underneath by putting two large stones on her chest. A lady who happened to be crossing the Garrison Common at the time noticed the child struggling to free herself, and immediately released her and took her home. It is said the lad who was the leader of the little party, had been reading literature of a very cheap class, thus accounting for their treating the little girl in such a dangerous manner. Mr. Cornes will not take any steps towards having the lads punished, as Gerty, with the exception of a couple of bruises, is around again.

INFANTICIDE CHARGED.

Lizzie Taylor, of Moorefield, in This Serious Predicament.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—Alice and Lizzie Taylor, mother and daughter, of Moorefield, are at present serving three months' term in jail for their part in the stealing of some goods from a relative, Miss Battin. Lizzie, the daughter, at the time of her arrest, had in her care her illegitimate child, which, subsequently died in the jail. A coroner's jury found that the child died from natural causes, but that its death was hastened through the action of Constable McFadden, the official who arrested the two women in the larceny case, it being stated that he had not allowed the mother time to properly clothe the infant. The case has even given new interest, however, by the re-arrest of the mother charged with killing the babe.

The evidence of the jail surgeon, Dr. Smith, showed that when the child was brought to the jail, where it died, it was in a very emaciated condition, and, considering the way it had been fed and clothed, as told to him, the result of death was only what might have been expected.

Miss Annie Battin of Ulsterne, a cousin of the prisoner, said the Taylor girl told her she "would not feel it, even if the little devil died." The prisoner also told witness she had fed the child buttermilk, blackstrap and water.

AN EAGLE'S QUARRY.

"THE LATE MINISTER,"

IS THE CLEARING-UP PHRASE USED BY PREMIER ABBOTT,

In Correcting Misapprehensions Concerning Sir Hector Langevin—The Letters Between Premier and Recent Colleague—Enquiry About a Letter From Hon. Wm. Macdougall.

OTTAWA, Sept. 8.—In the House yesterday Sir John Thompson said he wished to make a statement at the instance of the late Minister of Public Works. When his resignation was announced another minister took charge of the department. He was surprised two or three weeks afterwards at a question put in the House as to the position of the late Minister, because it indicated a misapprehension on the subject, which was not anticipated at the time that the resignation was announced. He stated then to Mr. Laurier that the resignation did not require to be accepted, because his view and the view of the Minister himself and his colleagues were that he had renounced his office in placing his resignation in the hands of the person qualified to receive it, and unless the resignation was declined it took no effect as a matter of course. He thought from the fact that the question was put that some members were under the impression that while resigning his office as Minister of Public Works Sir Hector continued to take part in the deliberations of council and to act otherwise as a member of the Cabinet. It was obviously unfair to leave the House under the impression that their late colleague still shared the responsibility of the acts of the council. The honorable gentleman felt that the ambiguity should no longer exist and, therefore, addressed this letter to the Premier yesterday:

OTTAWA, Sept. 7, 1891.
My Dear Prime Minister: I see that at the last meeting of the Senate a question was put to you by one of the Senators to know whether my resignation, as Minister of Public Works, had been accepted. This question coming after a similar one in the House of Commons, makes me perceive that there is some misunderstanding about my position and in order to put an end to it, I wish, as intended by me, and ask you that my resignation may be accepted without further delay.

I remain, my dear Prime Minister,
Yours very truly,
HECTOR L. LANGEVIN.

In reply Mr. Abbott wrote this letter to Sir Hector Langevin yesterday:

TORONTO TOPICS.

Events of More Than Passing Interest in the Queen City.

TORONTO, Sept. 8.—The Industrial Exhibition was formally opened for the season today. The scene at the grounds was a very busy one, and appearances indicate even more than the usual success. The weather was good, and if it so continues the 1891 Industrial will surpass its predecessors all the way round.

TORONTO, Sept. 8.—The following communication was received at the Detective Department yesterday from the authorities of Joplin, Mo.: "On June 30 a woman about 30 years of age committed suicide in this city. At the inquest nothing could be found giving any clue to her identity. She had been here but four days and was a stranger. In her trunk I found a photo of her, of which I enclose a copy. The photo was taken in Galveston, Texas. In the trunk I also found a card bearing the name, Mrs. W. E. Thorne. There is some reason to think that is her name. Since the inquest I learn that she gave her name to different parties as Miss Julie Beach before marriage, that her husband and child were dead, that she was originally from Toronto, Canada, and that she had been traveling about the United States for a little over three years. I would like to establish her identity, with a view of notifying her people of her death, and think you can assist me a little. Can you tell me if a woman answering to either of the above names was a resident of Toronto up to three or three and a half years ago, and, if so, if she has any relatives living and what their post-office address is?"

The bright prospects of a big potato crop has been somewhat beclouded during the last few days by the appearance of the dreaded rot. As to its extent, there is a difference of opinion among dealers. Some claims it exists only in the low-lying lands east of Toronto, while one Potato Prince avers it is provincial and will destroy 50 per cent. of the crop. Others estimate the damage at one-third. Whatever the condition may be in other districts there is no doubt that the disease has appeared immediately east of here and evidently in its most virulent form. One farmer who has a large quantity under cultivation was yesterday heard to remark that he would be compelled to plough up the whole of a 10 acre lot while a good deal of damage had been done to the crop on other parts of his farm. The greatest amount of damage seems to have been done in low-lying sandy soil where the potatoes, after a heavy rain, were most susceptible to injury by the scorching rays of the sun. Already at a reasonable price.

He also begs to inform his friends and the public that he has opened a branch undertaking establishment at Entree, where everything of the best will be kept in stock, and Mr. Caton will be on hand to attend to customers.

AN EAGLE'S QUARRY.

A Living Babe Borne Into the Air and Dropped to Its Death.

SAGUAT STE. MARIE, Ont., Sept. 8.—John Coward, a Chippewa Indian, living on the shore of Echo Lake, started out yesterday to guide a party. His only child, a girl baby, was on the outside of the hut, near the door, his wife being on the opposite side of the little dwelling. When the Indian father and the party had proceeded half a mile or so, they saw an enormous bald eagle circling over the edge of Echo Lake, near the hut. There was no thought of danger to the child, but their sportsman's instinct prompted them to turn back to get a shot at the bird. As they turned to retrace their steps, the eagle made a sudden swoop to the earth. The Indian quickened his pace and reached his cabin in advance of the white men. When they arrived at the lake they saw a dead eagle of unusual size and formidable appearance lying upon the ground, near it the Indian babe, torn and bleeding, and also dying.

The scream and rush of the great bird upon the child brought the Indian mother upon the scene. Her babe was already several feet in the air held by the ugly talons of the eagle. The child was evidently too heavy for the bird and was dropped to the earth.

The fall caused its death. The eagle made another plunge for its victim, but was fought off by the mother, who succeeded in driving it away. As the bird rose in the air it was shot by the father, who had arrived too late to save the child.

The white men had no difficulty in securing the eagle and they will have it stuffed.

Young Thieves from Toronto.

BELLEVEILLE, Sept. 8.—Detective John A. Grosse of Montreal, who is in connection with Robinson's circus, on Saturday evening arrested three boys named William Lester, Adolphus Scott and F. McEvoy, aged 16, 15 and 15. They stole four whips and two rugs from vehicles which were left near the circus grounds. At the court yesterday the boys stated that one of the circus men told them if they did not steal the whips they would thrash them. After warning them the magistrate allowed them to go. They belong to Toronto.

Canada's Imperial Railway.

VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 8.—A British regiment returning to England from China next month is to make the trip eastward by way of Canada. This will be the first practical test of Britain's new military highway to the east across her American possessions, and the result will be looked for with much interest. Great Britain expects this route to be of enormous value in case of trouble in India and of the Suez Canal being blocked. The agreement between the Government and the railroad for the use of the route was made public last week.

Terrible Reaper Accident.

DRAYTON, Ont., Sept. 8.—The 10-year-old son of Joseph Hills, Maryboro township, was driving a reaper, and in reaching forward to throw it out of gear one of the revolving rakes caught his head and threw him in front of the knives. Both arms and leg were completely severed from his body. He was also severely cut about the face and died in two hours.

A Woman Chinese Smuggler.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—A woman doing business in Richmond-street has been engaged in the business of smuggling Chinamen to Detroit and she has been assisted by her husband, who has on every occasion accompanied her and her Chinese friends to the station here and shared in the proceeds of the traffic.

A Dynamite Accident.

DRUMMONDVILLE, Ont., Sept. 8.—John Morse, son of Samuel Morse of this place, stood among a number of boys on a street corner picking at the cap of a dynamite cartridge, when all at once it exploded, taking off both thumbs and the two first fingers of both hands.

"The Little World" Inventor Dead.

HAMILTON, Sept. 8.—John McCowell, the clever inventor of the little world, who shot himself in the head a week ago yesterday morning, died at his residence, No. 39 Dundurn street, shortly after 10 o'clock Saturday night.

Dead and Alone.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 8.—Francis Ramson, a C.P.R. laborer, was found dead at Barclay Station, near here, yesterday.

$200,000 for a Mine.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 8.—An English syndicate has just paid $200,000 for one of the mines at Illecillewaite.

(Signed) HECTOR LANGEVIN.

In reply Mr. Abbott wrote this letter to Sir Hector Langevin yesterday:

PRIVY COUNCIL OFFICE,
Ottawa, Sept. 7, 1891.

DEAR SIR HECTOR LANGEVIN.—I have to acknowledge your letter of the morning requesting that your resignation may be accepted without further delay, and to say that in accordance with your request I shall regard your resignation as final and shall lay it before His Excellency immediately. I remain, dear Sir Hector,

Yours truly,

J. C. ABBOTT.

Mr. Laurier said that the statement showed that there was ground for the misapprehension. He understood that Sir Hector Langevin had ceased to be an adviser of His Excellency from the time that he placed his resignation in the hands of the Premier.

THE BAIE DES CHALEURS SUBSIDY.

In reply to Mr. Rinfret, Mr. Foster said that the total amount of subsidies paid to the Baie Des Chaleurs Railway was $524,175.

A LETTER OF THE LONG AGO.

Mr. Forbes has given notice that he will enquire has the Government or any member thereof had their attention called to the following statement published over the signature of Hon. William Macdougall: (1) shortly after the accession of Sir John Macdonald in 1878 the Government determined to abandon the construction of the Georgian Bay branch of the Pacific Railway; (2) It was then under a contract in which Messrs. Smith & Ripley of New York, well-known railway contractors, had acquired a controlling interest; (3) Mr. Chapleau had been retained by the contractors to advise them in acquiring this controlling interest; (4) In consequence of his ignorance or neglect the assignment of the interests they bargained and paid for were so informal and imperfect that a majority of the judges of the Supreme Court on appeal from the judgment of the Exchequer Court in their favor for $171,000 held that Messrs. Smith & Ripley had acquired no legal interest in the contract, but a majority of judges expressed the opinion that as these gentlemen had obtained in good faith and had expended a large sum in building that the contract had been legally assigned to them, and that the Government ought to, and no doubt, would overcome the defect and deal justly with them. (5) Mr. Chapleau neither appeared nor advised in any of the proceedings in the courts from 1879 to 1884, when the case was finally disposed of on a petition to the Governor-in-Council preferred and presented by me. (6) On the day information reached me that the council had decided to offer them $2000 in full of their claim, Mr. Smith informed me that the Chapleau's had demanded 10 per cent. of the amount. Whether Hon. J. A. Chapleau actually received that sum or any part of it I cannot affirm, as I did not see the money paid to him but I know that he was exceedingly attentive to Messrs. Smith & Ripley on and during the day on which they drew the money from the bank.

8. Mr. Smith and his partner gave as a reason for offering me $2000 for my professional services extending over a period of upwards of four years that they had been compelled to pay large sums to people who had done nothing but use influence with the Government.

9. I believe that Mr. Chapleau received a large sum of that solatium. I leave the records of the Exchequer Court, the reports of the Supreme Court, and the testimony of any professional brethren who were counsel with me to vindicate my reputation as a lawyer in that difficult case. It would have been simple and easy if Mr. Chapleau had given proper notice to his clients when they paid him $1500 as he says they did for securing to them a controlling interest in the contract. I am, etc.,

Signed, "WILLIAM MACDOUGALL."

And do the Government purpose taking any steps in the matter? If so, whether an investigation will be immediately directed.

THE COPYRIGHT LAW.

Sir John Thompson has given notice that he will move that an address of Parliament be presented to Her Majesty the Queen on the subject of the copyright law.

MR. C. R. DEVLIN, M.P., DYING.

OTTAWA, Sept. 8.—Mr. Charles R. Devlin, M.P. for Ottawa County, is at the point of death from an affection which had supervened in the throat. At that hour Drs. Quirk and Trudel were in consultation, but the position was considered very serious.

A Simple Cause of Illness.

OTTAWA, Sept. 8.—Mayor Eddy, Hull, has lately been very ill from blood poisoning, caused by a patent shirt button coming in contact with a pimple on his neck.

lying sandy soil where the potatoes, after a heavy rain, were most susceptible to injury by the scorching rays of the sun. Already a good many potatoes received on this market have proved to be worthless.

Mr. W. A. Murray, head of the well-known dry goods firm of Murray & Co., King street east, died yesterday at the residence of his son, Scarborough. The deceased, who was highly respected, was born in Perthshire, Scotland in 1814. He came to Canada in 1854 to join his brother in the drygoods business in Hamilton. Before this, though he learned the drygoods business in Scotland, he was for a number of years a principal buyer for Todd, Burns & Co., Limerick, Ireland. He remained with his brother, who is still doing business in Hamilton, but for a short time, apparently foreseeing the destined greatness of the Queen City. He came to Toronto in 1855 and entered into partnership with Mr. G. B. Wyllie, under the description of Wyllie & Murray. During all these years Mr. Murray made two round trips to Europe each year crossing the sea in all over 125 times.

Forty families of Jews who had been expelled from Russia arrived in the city by train from Montreal last night and were met and taken care of by Rabbi Elzas and a number of the members of the Richmond street synagogue. They were in a pitiful state of poverty, and were destitute of money and food. They had been sent from Russia by edicts, which means that they had been in prison like criminals, though their only offence was that they belonged to the race which the despotic Czar has denied residence in his iron-ruled land. These immigrants are only allowed to enter the United States since the Associated Hebrew Chhrities has given bonds for a million dollars that they will not become a public burden. They were therefore sent to their various destinations in the U. S. via the Chicora to Lewiston.

Oarsmen Edward Hanlan and William O'Connor left at 11.20 yesterday for New Westminster, B. C., to fulfil their engagement in the regatta there on September 23rd. They took the steamship express for Owen Sound, where they will take one of the Canadian Pacific steamships for Port Arthur, and go from the latter place by rail. A number of friends saw them off at the Union Station. The two rowers have taken three shells with them. O'Connor had two built by Ruddock, and Hanlan had one made by George Warin. Hanlan's is 31 feet seven inches long, and weighs only 29 lbs.

Mr. Joseph Harris, Government Grain Inspector at the Toronto Board of Trade, has resigned. He has held the office for 20 years and was generally popular among the grain men. As an authority on grain he is a peer, his decision seldom or never being disputed. Mr. Harris leaves Saturday next for Winnipeg, where he will engage in the grain business.

The transfer system on the street car goes into force to-day, and night cars will run hereafter.

The "Arrested at the Altar" Case.

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 8.—The "arrested at the altar" case has been the sensation of the day amongst the saints and is the cause of any amount of gossip. The only new development in the case has been, the liberation on bail of Emile Risch, who was arrested as an accessory to the conspiracy to abduct Miss Lulu Rolfs. Mr. Charles Wilson, reeve of Port Dalhousie, went his bail for $500, and Mr. Glass, a Louth farmer, for $1000. Mr. Frank Risch, the would-be bridegroom, did not succeed in getting bail, and was sent back to the county jail to wait till to-day at 10 o'clock, when he will have a hearing. Miss Rolfs is reported to be still willing to proceed with the ceremony, and it is only a question of time before the wedding takes place.

Fatal Buggy Accident.

KINGSTON, Sept. 8.—While Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald of Mississippi, on the Kingston and Pembroke Railway, were driving home, their team became frightened, upsetting the rig and throwing them out, instantly killing Mr. McDonald and severely injuring his wife. She may recover.

Killed By a Fall.

HAMILTON, Sept. 8.—Henry William Pearce, a painter who used to live here, died at Strathroy from injuries received by a fall. He was at work on a building when the scaffold gave way and he fell to the ground, receiving injuries which caused his death after 24 hours' suffering.

Manitoba's Queen's Printer to Wed.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 8.—D. Philp, Manitoba's Queen's Printer, will to-day wed a sister-in-law of Hon. Col. McMillan. The couple will then go east.

THE GERMAN KAISER MERCIFUL TO THE ERRING.

He Pardons Mrs. O'Neil Who Shot Her Husband—History of the Crime—The Sufferings of the Woman and Daughter's Welfare Made Her Desperate.

WIENBADEN, Sept. 8.—Mrs. O'Neil, the wife of Gen. O'Neil claiming to be an officer in the United States army, who, while in a fit of jealousy shot at and dangerously wounded her husband at this place on May 20 last, and who was imprisoned for that crime has been pardoned by Emperor William and released from imprisonment. Mrs. O'Neil has been separated from her husband and on the day mentioned called at his house and found him in company with another woman. Mrs. O'Neil immediately opened fire on the couple, emptied three chambers of a revolver in their direction, and then turned the weapon upon herself, but only succeeded in wounding herself in the hand. The general, however, was found to be in a precarious condition. Both Mrs. O'Neil and the general were removed to an hospital.

Subsequently on July 11 Mrs. O'Neil was sentenced to four months' imprisonment. It was claimed, in her behalf, that she had been married to the General for 20 years; that he habitually neglected her; that he had squandered a fortune which she brought him; that she had a daughter 15 years of age who was dependent upon her and that the General had installed his mistress in his home. The latter escaped injury from Mrs. O'Neil's bullets. Mrs. O'Neil is 60 years of age. Her daughter is being educated in Florence.

A NEWCASTLE VESSEL LOST.

The Captain and Ten Men Perish from Suffering.
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 8.—Australian mails bring details of the loss of the bark Ellen, which foundered on the voyage from Newcastle to Louisa. During a severe storm it was discovered that the vessel was leaking and that there was six feet of water in the hold. All hands went to the pumps, but there exertions were useless, and all hope of saving the vessel was abandoned. The captain issued instructions to man the boats. All hands left the bark and in a short time afterward the vessel foundered. It had been impossible to secure any water

WHISKY'S WORK.

An English Curate's Sad Downfall Through Drink.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—Gloucester is excited over a clerical scandal. Last evening Henry Rudge, the senior curate of Hewent, near that city, who was well connected and had been highly respected, died in jail. His downfall has been rapid. A short time ago he began drinking, and it was soon learned by the parish trustees that he was using a large amount of parochial funds. A week ago Rudge was forced to leave his house for non-payment of rent. Overcome by despair and shame he attempted to commit suicide, but was prevented and was sent to jail for the offence. It is believed that he obtained poison through some friend while in jail, and was thus enabled to finally complete the work of self-destruction, as an autopsy shows signs of poison.

A DYNAMITE BOMB

Deliberately Exploded in Carroll's Room Blows Him to Pieces.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8.—F. L. Carroll, of Fresno, committed suicide at the Prescott House here by exploding a dynamite bomb in his room. The explosion shook all the buildings in the neighborhood. Carroll's remains were scattered all over the room and one arm was found in the street. The windows and plastering were broken and the furniture damaged. He told some persons that he intended to kill himself to create a sensation for the newspapers. He left a note saying life was not worth the living.

A Girl's Duel with Knives.

PARIS, Sept. 8.—An exciting scene occurred yesterday in the Avenue des Ternes, when two young women, Laure Stroux and Anna Gervaise, both under 20 years of age, after quarreling, armed themselves with long knives, and adjourning to a conveniently secluded spot, started in with vigor. The police, however, arrived opportunely on the scene, but not soon enough to prevent both girls being so seriously wounded that they were obliged to be conveyed to the hospital, where they are now in great danger.

What is

CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhoea and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

Dr. G. C. Osmond,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Dr. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Covay, Ar.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as a superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 Co. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in this children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

Death of Venerable People.

On Friday week Joseph Wiseman, Violet, aged seventy-four years, was called hence, followed on Monday by Mrs. Tierney, mother of John Tierney, Adolphustown, aged ninety-one years, and on Tuesday, Sept. 1st, Mrs. Eliza Chambers, aged over eighty-five years; also Mrs. John Fitchett, in South Fredericksburgh, on August 27th, aged over sixty years.

From Our Office.

If the show held in the Opera House on Monday night last is a sample of what the people of Napanee are to be treated to this winter all that can be said is that the proprietors had better close the doors or else lease the hall to some one who will try to bring a good show here. The tastes of the people of the town are higher than Bowery refuse, and they will not patronize rank plays. There are plenty of light operas on the road which could be secured for a small guarantee. Margaret Mather was refused because the proprietors did not know anything about her, and did not know whether she would draw a good house in Shakespearean plays.

—After Sept. 15 the mail line steamers between Montreal and Toronto will run only three times a week, leaving Montreal on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays.

—Mr. E. R. Edwards, Deseronto, is showing his friends some extraordinary large potatoes of the "Early Rose" variety. Last week he had one which weighed 22oz.

—A young man named Pybus shot a fine specimen of porcupine in the woods near Napanee Mills. J. R. Scott, Esq., purchased it from him and M. B. Mills has set it up. It is an unusually large one and quite a curiosity.

—While Mr. John Coates and some workmen were taking out some stone on his premises on Roblin's Hill, they killed a large light brown snake over four feet in length, and about four inches in circumference. The reptile showed fight but was quickly despatched with a crowbar.

—In the recent fire of Mr. David Young's South Fredericksburgh, his entire crop of grain and implements was destroyed. The barn was insured for $300 and the contents for $600. The entire loss is placed at $1,200. Mr. Sam Asselstine also lost a part of his new steam thrasher.

—The following game may be killed between the following dates given below: Deer, Oct 15 to Nov. 30; Woodcock, Aug. 15 to January 1; hares, Sept 1 to March 15; geese, Sept. 1 to May 1; partridge, snipe, rail, plover, ducks and all other fowl (excepting geese) Sept 1st to Jan 1st.

—There was a great religious excitement at Sydenham a few nights ago. A sect which held meetings in a hall were put out. They retired to a field where a corset meeting was held. A bonfire was built, and the women threw their corsets on the blaze, crying, "We will die as God made us."

—An anti-corset society has been formed in Kansas city, and Miss Frances Willard, endorsing the action of the leaders says: "I call the corset the death line; it has filled more graves than whiskey."

—J. Gibbard & Son are showing some fine dining room sets in oak, also some fine oak bedroom sets. You should call and see their goods, whether you want to buy or not. They are good value.

40b J. GIBBARD & SON.
—Cooking Stoves are cheaper than ever, drop in and see them. Carpet Sweepers finished in Old English Oak, 10th Century Natural Wood. Walnut prices from $1.25 to $3.75. Best in the world. BOYLE & SON.

—Lennox Agricultural Exhibition takes place on the fair grounds at Napanee on Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 29th and 30th. There is every promise of a big show this year, exceeding all former efforts.

—F. Kelly, a young man aged 20, belonging to Napanee, was arrested in Belleville. He was employed by a gentleman near that town, and ran away, after being bound until 21 years of age, which caused him to issue a warrant for him.

—Where did you get that picture taken, my dear: it is so very life like; and that large crayon portrait, it stands out so clearly and just like real life? Why, I got them at Hulet's, he is the best artist in the counties and does all my work.

—J. Fennell & Son have renewed their stock of Boots and Shoes and are now prepared to do as well in the way of bargains as any person. They also manufacture first class custom work, and repair neatly and efficiently. Before purchasing it would pay you to give them a call.

—The problem of Zig Zag regarding the killing of thirty dogs in five days, and killing an odd number daily, how many did he kill each day?—was unanswerable, although Mr. J. J. Perry had numerous answers, but all were wrong, especially, the ladies answers through the telephone. The show itself was a decided failure.

—The elegant half and whole sheet posters for the Lennox fair on Sept. 29th and 30th were issued this week from the Express office and are now posted up about the town and in the surrounding towns and villages. This fair has been very popular and successful for many years and the present promises, with a judicious amount of advertising, to surpass all those of previous years.

—The continued wet weather is doing serious work among the fine potato crop in the country. The tubers are rotting quite extensively. The tops died prematurely ten days ago, and considerably before the potatoes had ripened. Many of them are getting quite soft already. Of course it is worse on the low and clay soils, but if the present wet weather continues much longer the disease will probably become very general.

—In Kingston last Sunday night John Stewart, watchman at the gas works, became unconscious from the smell of the gas and fell on the floor, bruising his forehead in the fall by striking some of the bricks of which the wall of that building is composed. He remained in a state of unconsciousness all the night, and was found next morning. His face was black and his body quite rigid. By the aid of Dr. Bell of that place he was recovered to consciousness and is now lying in a precarious condition.

—Fire caused a heavy loss to several Belleville merchants last Wednesday morning. The extent of the damage cannot be estimated. The stock and groceries in the stores of both Messrs Young & McMullen is almost ruined. Mr. Smith, photographer, also suffered heavy and irreparable loss in the destruction of a large number of negatives many of which can never be replaced. The roof was burned off the gallery and a large amount of the fittings completely destroyed. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

—The following from the Picton GAZETTE refers to a curious case, arising from the pernicious habit of cigarette smoking:—Wm. Shackford, of Svracuse, aged 16, son of a commercial traveller, was taken with "tobacco tremens" on an R. W. & O train while running from the Thousand Island, Saturday night. The mania is similar to hydrophobia. Spasm after spasm racked the boy's frame, and with difficulty two men held him. He succeeded in tearing the clothes from his body, and foam dripped from his lips and the sight of water threw him into convulsions. He was an inveterate cigarette smoker. His condition is precarious.

Police Court Notes.

On Saturday, Sept. 5, prisoners Whitehead, Jno. McGinnes, John Creamer, and Joseph Clark were before Police Magistrate James Daly on remand. Prisoners Whitehead and McGinnes were acquitted. John Creamer was sent to common jail, to serve a term of two months, for stealing a pipe, the property of Robert Orr. Joseph Clark was sentenced to twelve months in Central Prison, Toronto, for stealing cakes from Harry Hunter, proprietor of the Royal Hotel. His, (Clark's,) previous record went hard with him being a term of five years in Penitentiary, and two years in the Central. Creamer was identified as the man who took the hand car at Ernestown station on the night of McGinnes's robbery.

The American Harrow Co.

The above company have eight teams and as many men now making headquarters at Napanee for the purpose of introducing their harrows and seeders in this vicinity. The firm has headquarters at Detroit with an extensive branch at Windsor Ont., and are thoroughly responsible in every way. Besides, their manner of doing business is such as to meet all the requirements of the times. They take their machine on a man's farm show him how it does its work and allow him to judge for himself. A. R. McManus foreman for the Company can be found at the Campbell house where descriptive catalogue will be cheerfully furnished. A glance at the testimonials published in another column will tell you what the farmers think of the Gale sulky harrow and seeder.

The Days are Getting Shorter.

To the average observer there is now a marked diminution in the length of the day as compared with four or five weeks ago. For the two or three weeks following the 21st of June, when the daylight period was at its maximum, the change was scarcely perceptible, but now the lessening of the day, though it is by slow degrees as yet, makes an important figure in the aggregate. On the 1st of August the time between sunrise and sunset was forty minutes shorter than on July 1st, and forty-two minutes shorter than on June 21st. The falling off of the day's length in August was sixty-seven minutes. The rising and setting points of the sun are moving slowly and steadily towards the south, and thus the duration of the luminary's stay above the horizon is gradually being lessened.

Fine Corn.

On the farm of Mr. James Daley, at Newburgh, may be seen some of the tallest corn ever grown in this part of Ontario. There are eight acres of it, some being as much as 13 feet high, standing very thickly upon the ground. The corn is intended for winter feeding, and will shortly be stored in a new silo, Mr. Daley has had built, which will hold nearly 200 tons of green food. This silo is built above the ground but is of course intended to be air proof. The problem of keeping a large number of cattle through the winter cheaply, so as to afford a profit when sold for the butcher, seems solved by Mr. Daley, as two tons of corn is said to be equal to one of good hay, and his corn will yield 25 tons to the acre. The silo is not an expensive affair as here built, and is within the reach of every farmer. Mr. Daley will be glad to show the silo to anyone interested.

Obituary.

MRS. PHEBY DENNISON.
Mrs. Phoby Dennison, relict of the late William Canton, Esq., Napanee, died at the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. Bowerman, on Sunday morning at the ripe age of 79 years and 6 months. She was a lifelong resident of Napanee or its vicinity and was highly esteemed by all who knew her. She and her husband were active members of the Methodist church and well known Christian workers. For the past six months she has been very sick. The funeral was on Monday.

MRS. IDA DAWLING ABRAMS.

Mrs. Ida Dawling Abrams, wife of John J. Abrams, of Morven, died at the residence of her step-father, Isaiah Abrams, Napanee, on Thursday, 3rd inst., of consumption. She was the only child of the late William Dowling, of Camden. Both she and her husband have been victims of consumption for some time and became too sick to take care of themselves months ago. They were both little past 30 years of age. The husband now lies at death's door and is expected to survive many weeks, even many days.

Gale Sulky Harrow and Seeder

—MANUFACTURED BY THE—
American Harrow Co.
 OF WINDSOR, ONT.

Over Fifty sold in this vicinity and all giving the best of satisfaction.
 Following is what the leading farmers think of the Gale:

Off to Camp.

—A company of recruits, 19 in all under the command of James Babcock, Sgt., left on Tuesday for camp. 25 names had been signed and on Wednesday Sgt. Babcock was sent back to Napanee after the additional signers.

Fire.

The stables attached to the Tichborne House have been rebuilt by the owner and rendered fire proof by being sheathed in iron. The lessee can confidentially recommend their use, a strict supervision of the premises is also kept in force.

SAMUEL HAYES, lessee.

Look Here.

We get there all the same with "Good Cheer." This is to certify that the Morden Pea Harvester for sale by M. S. Plumley, has done good clean work in a field on the farm of Ferguson Buck, Adolphustown, Sept. 2nd 1891. Sgd. Cyrus Buck, Walter Platt.

Making Comparisons.

"Why don't you run a paper like that?" said a merchant to a publisher, throwing down a blanket-sheet city daily. "Why don't you run a store like that?" asked the publisher of the country sheet, as he turned the paper and pointed to a full-page advertisement for which the city publisher received $250 an issue. Just then the country publisher presented a monthly bill for five dollars, and the merchant began to talk of economizing by cutting down his advertisement and stopping his paper. He did both, and now the sheriff is doing his advertising for him.—Guelph Herald.

The Yacht Went to Pieces.

Four Picton boys started off on the yacht Derby for a tour down the bay. They reached Bath safely, and, returning, got in a squall. They were picked up by the tug Thistle, two remaining on board. She had been leaking fast until the cabin was pretty well filled and everything loose inside was floating, so the two remaining bravos decided it safer to desert the wreck and go on board the tug. Not long after it was noticed that she was breaking to pieces, and in a few minutes the whole stern end floated away, with the cabin and all of their camp goods and several overcoats. What remained was towed to the cove to await inspection, with hardly enough to build a fire.

A Fatal Railway Wreck.

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 7.—Owing to the unauthorized use by a brakeman of the signal protecting the diamond crossing at Lorneville Junction, a passenger train was backed into a freight which had just started to cross. The station building prevented the trainmen from seeing each other in time. Roadmaster Stewart was killed and one lady slightly injured about the face. One of the coaches of the passenger train was capsized, and, when falling, knocked a telegraph pole which struck Stewart and instantly killing him. Stewart had held the position of roadmaster on the Nipissing Division of the Grand Trunk for a number of years, and lived in Uxbridge. His daughter, who resides in the city, left for home Saturday evening on the Midland

...daughter, who resides in the city, left for home Saturday evening on the Midland, having received the sad news of her father's death early in the day.

The Circus.

The parade of John Robinson's "10 Big Shows" last Friday morning was watched by thousands of people along the streets. Brass bands, bagpipes, steam organs and minstrels, enlivened the proceedings with their music. Their horses were extra fine and their display of ponies were the finest we have ever witnessed with a circus and excited general attention. In the early part of the afternoon a balloon ascension was made from the show grounds, the balloon rising to a height of about 500 feet and then gradually lowering, the wind carrying it toward the river. The afternoon and evening exhibitions were really a success and it can be truly said that in almost every particular the bill was filled. The only thing we heard any complaint about was the "10 cent after concert," which was really not worth the dime invited by the crowd that stayed to listen to it. King Solomon's Court, the Queen of Sheba and the ballet dancing were the principal features. There was a remarkable absence of fakirs and confidence men, this aggregation appearing to have been belied by the reports which preceded it.

Musical.

The members of this craft held an emergency meeting here last Sabbath forenoon to attend Divine worship, which was held in the Eastern Methodist church, the sermon being preached by the Rev. R. J. Craig, P. G. C., G. L. C. Lodges from Picton, Deseronto and Belleville, were represented, and numbered about 200. Among the illustrious members of the craft present were the R. W. Bro. Donald Ross, P. D. D. G. M.; R. W. Bro. R. J. Craig, P. G. C., R. E. C. J. H. Stone, P. G. S.; R. E. C. Alfred Ellis, P. G. S.; W. W. Bro. G. A. Aylsworth G. S., and the following worshipful brethren: R. H. Baker, Frontenac Lodge; J. H. Turnley, H. W. Banks, E. A. Menden, and J. Warren, of the Prince Edward Lodge; J. N. Lockridge, Victoria Lodge; H. A. Baker, Albion Lodge; J. G. Johnston, Lake Lodge; R. Gettes, Craig Lodge; and Peter Johnston and W. W. Bell, of the Prince of Wales Lodge. There were also representatives from Centerville, Wellington, Concession, Shannonville, Tamworth, Montreal and Toronto. After the sermon the guests were hospitably entertained to a sumptuous dinner at the Campbell House, given by the local lodge.

Marriage Ceremony.

The marriage of Miss Catherine Campbell daughter of Lieut. Colonel Campbell of Kingston, to Mr. Thomas Edward Merritt, accountant in the Napanee branch of the Merchant's bank, and eldest son of Capt. T. E. Merritt, of Kingston, which took place in St. James' church on Wednesday afternoon was attended with every success and witnessed by a large and fashionable gathering. About 1:30 Col. Campbell with the bride upon his arm ascended the centre aisle of the church followed by the bridesmaid, Miss Violet Campbell. Miss Campbell wore a tulle-trimmed white corded silk trimmed with lilac and orange blossoms and pearl ornaments. As she passed through the avenue of admiring faces there were expressions of delight and satisfaction at her appearance and the beauty and grace which at all times is so well-known to Kingstonians as to need no comment. The bridesmaid Miss Violet Campbell wore a white crape cloth trimmed with yellow bengaline. Simultaneously with the appearance of the bride at the door the organ pealed the beautiful coronation march under the direction of Miss Norma Tandy, and the groom with his assistant, Fred Merritt, ascended to the chancel.

When the organ ceased playing the Rev. B. B. Smith proceeded with the beautiful church of England marriage service. The service was quickly over and the golden ringlet was placed in its final resting place the kiss of the husband imprinted upon the brides fair lips and the vestry's quiet precincts were sought to seal the contract in black and white. Miss Tandy at this juncture performed Mendelssohn's wedding march. Mr. and Mrs. Merritt entered the cab and were driven to the residence of Col. Campbell, King street, where the wedding luncheon was spread. The happy couple left by the 3:40 train for the west amid a shower of rice and old slippers. They will visit Toronto, Niagara Falls and Owen Sound where they will take the C. P. R. steamer for Duluth. The display of presents was so large that they occupied a room by themselves. Among the guests noticed at the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Macdonald, of Regina, and Mrs. Kennear, of Halifax, aunt of the bride.

Over Fifty sold in this vicinity and all giving the best of satisfaction. Following is what the leading farmers think of the Gale:

American Harrow Co., Windsor, Ont.

DEAR SIR:—I bought one of your Gale Harrows and Seeders, after seeing it thoroughly tested in all kinds of land and have used it on a field of sod, where the quack grass was very thick, and I never saw its equal for doing the work your agents recommended it to do. It leaves the trash all on top, opposed to the sun, where it will dry up. I think the Gale is the best general purpose machine ever introduced in this section, and would advise my neighbor farmers to see it work before purchasing anything in that line. (Geo. R. PARKS.

Selby, Sept 8th, 1891.

This is to certify that the Gale Sulky Harrow and Seeder I bought from your agent, Mr. Milligan, has given me the best of satisfaction in every respect. I have used it on stubble ground, where the quack grass and thistles were very thick, also as a pulverizer and have no hesitation in saying that it is the best cultivator and general purpose machine in the market. (DAVID MARTIN.

American Harrow Co., Windsor.

GENTLEMEN:—Regarding the Harrow and Cultivator I bought from your agent, will say that after seeing all other kinds of work, I had no hesitation in buying the Gale, as I consider it far superior to any of them. (T. J. OSBORN, Lonsdale, Ont.

Toronto Exhibition.

Take the Bay of Quinte and Canadian Pacific Railways' new short line for Peterboro, Toronto, and all points west. Train leaves Kingston at 1:15 p.m., arrives in Toronto at 8:10 p.m.

Entertainment at Morven.

Mr. J. Arlington Cooke, of Oshawa, will give an illustrated lecture, "To and Fro in the Sunny South," with time-light effects, at Morven Brick church, on Thursday next, Sept. 17th, at 8 o'clock, p.m. Tickets 15 cents and another lecture at the White church on Friday evening, tickets 10 cents.

Weeds.

In numerous enclosures as well as upon vacant lots and streets of the town, weeds may be seen growing and going to seed. The owners of such pieces of property or tenant should be made aware of the law on the subject. The destruction of all noxious weeds should be insisted upon without delay and the seed burned.

Married in Toronto.

An interesting marriage occurred in Toronto, Wednesday, that of E. H. Baines, of the Dominion Bank, Napanee, to Miss Jessie L., second daughter of Dr. H. L. Cook, of Toronto, formerly of Napanee. The Whig says: Apparently the matrimonial wave is strong in Napanee banks for two were married out of them Wednesday.

Dame Rumor.

A rumor is going the rounds about town that a man about to die had made a confession before his death that he and another party, formerly of Napanee, were implicated in the crime of killing a man near the town. The party not believing him, he told them they would find the body of the dead person buried in Blanchard's swamp, just south of the town. It was also rumored that they had looked and found some bones, clothes, a jack knife and other articles in a good state of preservation. As far as we can learn the yarn is entirely false, and got up by some lover of gossip to create an excitement.

Remarks of Visitors to J. Gibbard & Son's Warerooms on their Special Plush Parlor Suits and $15 Bedroom Sets.

MONDAY—Lady and Gentleman from Kingston: We think those Parlor Suits just elegant, far better than a set I bought and paid $70 for. I wish you would exchange with me.

LADY FROM MORVEN: Well, I will have one of those Suits next month: they are the best I ever saw for the price—only $45, and you say they are solid walnut.

THREE LADIES FROM DESERONTO: Well, I think Mr. Gibbard, you have displayed great taste in those sets. Why the suits are very cheap; I do not know how you can get them up for that price.

Come and see these suits. They are manufactured of best quality of plush, upholstered as good as the best, and only $15 for the suit. 40b.

FREEMAN'S WORM POWDERS destroy and remove worms without injury to adult or infant.

DEAR SIR:—I have pleasure in certifying that we purchased a Gale Harrow and Seeder for use on this farm, have tried it thoroughly in various soils and conditions, and am well satisfied with the work it does. Respectfully, (JAMES MILLS, Pres. Ont., Agricultural College.

American Harrow Co.

GENTS:—I bought the first Gale Sulky Harrow seeder sold in this neighborhood and have used it on stubble that had not been plowed and it did the work better than a gang plow. I also used it to dig my potatoes and it did the work to perfection. In fact I consider the Gale an A No. 1 machine in every respect and think it will do all your agent said it would. (FRANCIS WHITE, Port Perry, Ont.

American Harrow Co., Windsor.

GENTS:—Having purchased one of your Cultivators and Seeders from your agent, and used it on land very bad with twitch grass, weeds and thistles, and have dug my potatoes. I must say that I never saw its equal for the use for which the agent recommended it. I would advise every farmer who is not supplied to give it a trial, as I am convinced that it is the best implement of its kind in the market, at least I would not take twice the price of it for it if I could not get another. (JONATHAN PORTER.

—One important element of a showman's success—The judicious use of printer's ink. —NEWS COR.

—There was no meeting of the town council last Monday evening a quorum not being present.

—Mr. Charles Douglass, Tamworth, has leased the Paisley House and has already taken possession. He bought the furniture for $1,100.

—There will be a fine exhibit in all departments, and visitors to the fair may depend upon seeing a first class agricultural and industrial exposition.

—The excursion of the Ladies' Aid of the Eastern Methodist Church to Picton, yesterday, was well attended. The weather was fine and the trip was very enjoyable.

—Our enterprising townsman Mr. F. McL. Radford is brightening up the front of his dry goods establishment with a coat of yellow paint with brown trimmings.

—A dog fight on John street last Tuesday evening between two dogs belonging to H. M. Deroche and Mike Normile drew a large crowd. After about half an hour's tussle the dogs were separated, neither being very badly hurt.

—General Thomas A. Davis and Mr. D. H. Beresford of New York are fishing at Hay Bay for Maskinonge. Last year they had considerable luck at this place, catching about 30. David Clarke of Ogdensburg also accompanies them.

RAGLAN, ONT., Oct. 16th, 1891.

American Harrow Co.

DEAR SIR:—I tried one of your Gale Sulky Harrows on a ten acre field of sod where the thistles were very thick and it did the work so much better than any other implement I ever saw that I purchased it, and have always found it as good a machine as your agent recommended it to be. I also bought the seeder attachment and used it to sow the above field to fall wheat. It is now up and I never saw grain better or more evenly sown. I have a good drill nearly new but am convinced that grain as sown with the Gale will give the best results. Yours, (DAVID BECKOFF, Little Britain, Oct. 13, 1890.

American Harrow Co., Windsor, Ont.

DEAR SIR:—I bought one of your Gale Sulky Cultivators. After giving it thorough trial I am well pleased with the way it does the work. I have used it on hard land where twitch grass was very thick and it left the grass all out on top where it will wither and die. I also used it to dig 1 1/2 acres of potatoes, and it did a first class job. I consider it the best general purpose machine I ever saw, and would advise my neighbor farmers to see it work before purchasing anything in that line. Yours truly, (JONATHAN BRAY.
